NEW YORK STOCK MARKET FIRM, CHICKEN SUPPLY WITH GRAIN-CARRYING RAIL-ROADS STRONGEST.

NEW YORK, June 29-2 p. m.-The TODAY'S SALES ON market remains dull and listless, with most stocks steady about the opening NEW YORK EXC levels. The principal reason for the strength in Rock Island preferred centers in an order from London for the purchase of 10,000 shares. An order of similar proportions came from the same ington Stock Exchange, and Chicago Board source for the purchase of Steel com- of Trade.) mon, and that stock has been strong through the day.

The evening-up proces noted in the earlier dispatch continues and becomes more pronounced as the day advances. Most of the trading is of this strictly professional character and the market does not budge either way, more than small fractions.

NEW YORK, June 29 .- Noon-While the stock market today is firm, it is neither active nor attended with any significant movement. Stocks, opening | strong, moved slowly upward about a point during the forenoon, and then as owly lapsed back to about the level of last night's closing. Among the rails Rock Island was strongest and Reading, after a sharp advance to 157, was weakest. In the metal group Steel advanced rather more rapidly than other issues, though the entire group was

The market all the morning has been a trader's affair, with professional bargaining going on all along the lines. Commission house business has been reduced to the lowest point, and the vol-ume of sales is very restricted. Brokers are paying much attention to weather reports today, and the almost universally clear skies over the wheat and corn belts are having a bolstering influence upon the gran, er railroads and others which are large carriers of grain.

Delaware and Hudson stock has been strong today, following the firm and active tone yesterday. It is passing through one of its rare active periods. But while it is being bought and sold freely for Delaware and Hudson, the price changes are narrow. It is price changes are narrow. It is thought here that the management of this corporation is preparing to dodge the commodities clause and will some time in the future unload its coal properties, and when that event 'ranspires it is probable that some large dividends will be forthcoming to the stockholders. This probably accounts for the present activity in the stock.

The condition of the market today is distinctly ante-holiday. Everybody is preparing to get out of the market as much as possible over the Fourih of July, and no great volume of trading is expected during the remaining days of the week. It is probable that the market will hang shout where it is, moving slowly in one direction or another within a range of a point or so until adjournment is taken for the coming holiday.

Butter will sell again at the price which prevailed last week-261/2 to 27 cents a pound. Cleese, also, failed to record any changes. Supply of eggs showed improvement, and the general showed improvement, and the general selling price was 21 to 22 cents a dozen. Home-grown fruits and vegetables played an important part on the vegetable market today. They created sufficient competition to bring about a reduction in price in new potatoes and string beans. The former recorded a reduction of 50 cents on the barrel, while string beans sold at from $1.50 to $2 per barrel.

Large shipments of both foreign and home-grown blackberries were received. Better quality was offered in the home-grown product, and the selling price was 6 to 8 cents a quart, while foreign berries brought from 4 to 6 cents.
